

Cleveland Plain Dealer
Cleveland, Ohio
Wednesday, June 4, 1845
Vol. IV, p.2

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER.

"It is not in a splendid government, supported by powerful monopolies and aristocratic establishments, that our people will find happiness, or their liberties protected; but in a plain system, devoid of pomp, protecting all and granting favors to none."—ANDREW JACKSON.

VOL. IV.

CLEVELAND, OHIO—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4, 1845.

NO. 23.

LATER FROM THE SWALLOW.—We have seen a letter from Capt. Squires to the agent in this city, written from the Swallow yesterday afternoon.—The water in the hold was reduced yesterday to less than four feet, when several articles were recovered from the cabin, consisting of three valises, one marked A. P. Rayner, Troy, N.Y.; another, containing a small sum of money; and a third, with wearing apparel, marked J. S. Patten. Also, three umbrellas; also, a lady's satchel, containing wearing apparel, and a letter addressed to Ebenezer Clark, 18 Mercer St., New York. No bodies have been found in any part of the boat.—Troy Budget, Thursday.